Dear Class of 2025,

Not sure about your major?
Want to learn about minors?
Have you discovered a new interest?
Or, do you simply want one of those delicious Chick-Fil-A sandwiches for free?

Join Exploration Week, beginning next Monday with the Exploration Kickoff Fair!

InstaGraM TattoVe
Student Government has taken over the NDfirstyear Instagram page and offers the Exploration Series—a set of conversations with upperclass students and faculty about their major, how they discerned, and what their studies look like. Follow NDfirstyear to hear their stories!

EXPLORATION KICKOFF FAIR BEGINS IN

CHECK OUT THESE OTHER OPPORTUNITIES

Virtual Notre Dame Sustainability Expo
Oct. 26 (TODAY) | 6:00 PM - 7:30 PM
The Virtual Notre Dame Sustainability Expo connects undergraduate and graduate students with employers to explore professional development opportunities in energy, the environment, and other sustainability areas.

Opportunities include job openings, internships, experiential and service-learning programs, research projects, and education programs.

Program of Liberal Studies Info Night
Oct. 27 (TOMORROW) | 6:30 PM - 8:00 PM
Stop by O'Shag 320, enjoy a slice of pizza, and learn about the Program of Liberal Studies from some current students as well as the Director of Undergraduate Studies in our new student lounge.

English Info Sessions
Beginning Oct. 27 (TOMORROW)
Come join us in English! Students interested in English as a first or second major are invited to attend one of our upcoming information sessions. Two of the sessions are specially geared to coordinate with fields frequently paired with English, science and business, and one is meant as a general English major information session. To RSVP for any of these sessions, please visit the English website, scrolling down to find your session of interest, click on the link in the poster, or contact khuth1@nd.edu.

Peace Studies Info Session
Nov. 2 | 6:00 PM - 7:30 PM
In the face of ongoing challenges, how and where do we begin the work of building a better world? Peace studies can equip you with knowledge about the nature of violence, oppression, and inequality, and give you tools to help transform these systems and create more just societies.

Join students, faculty, and staff to learn more about the Kroc Institute’s Undergraduate Program in Peace Studies and its offerings, including courses, grants, conferences, and opportunities for experiential learning in the field.
